WORK EXPERIENCE

- During my Bachelor of Commerce studies, I gained practical teaching experience as a home tutor, where I provided academic support to students in commerce and related subjects. My role involved designing lesson plans, simplifying complex accounting and finance concepts, and adapting teaching methods according to individual learning styles. Through this, I helped students improve their academic performance while also developing my own skills in communication, problem-solving, and mentoring. This experience allowed me to strengthen my time management and organizational abilities, as I balanced tutoring with my academic responsibilities. It also gave me the opportunity to build patience, leadership qualities, and the ability to explain ideas clearly, all of which are valuable skills for a professional career in commerce and finance.
